

An Unhelpful Passage

This juvenile adolescent is an articulator in his own sense. He may come across as young, serene, dirt-free, rebalance of his ancestors. But little we know shows us his true carnage-powered mind, makes him an ideological for indescribable activities.

He is known as Rudolph Crim and can also be compressed down to Dolphim.

He does not represent a dolfin¹, but he somewhat resembles a cowboy².

This imprecise antagonist does not distinguish his allurements from whence he came and must know deceive his father's family name.
